Mayor talks taxes in update for residents

By Gregory A. Scibelli
gscibelli@turley.com

AGAWAM – With property taxes due earlier this week, Mayor William Sapelli gave residents an update on the state of town tax collection.

Sapelli explained the current tax rate, which for residents is $16.80. The rate was lowered by three cents from last year's rate. The tax rate often has crept up over the past several years, but the city council sought to make things just a little bit easier for residents during the pandemic.

Agawam's residential tax rate continues to be among the lowest in the region, and one of the lowest for like-sized towns. West Springfield, Agawam's neighbor, has a tax rate of $16.90 for fiscal year 2021.

The tax rate is charged per $1,000 valuation of real property. Sapelli explained how estimated taxes and actual tax bill are calculated.

Sapelli said while the tax rate lowered, many property values have risen.

Assessor Carolyn Reed said the average tax value was $244,000. This year, she said the average home value went up about 2.5 percent and is hovering around $250,000 now. She said home values rising are always good for those who have invested in their home and want to make money off a potential sale. However, rising values can make a tax bill go up despite the tax being a bit lower.

"The average taxpayer saw about a two percent increase in their tax bills," said Reed.

Sapelli lauded town services as the reason for making property values rise.

"What would have increased that value is the fact that your community here has some great services," said Sapelli. "Whether it is the senior center, or the

WASHINGTON D.C. – Jan. 20 will forever be remembered by the members of the Massachusetts Veterans of Foreign Wars Honor Guard, which partook in the virtual "Parade Across America," celebrating President Joe Biden's inauguration.

A group of five veterans was chosen to represent the Commonwealth on a national stage last Wednesday, as the country turned a page and welcomed in the Biden Administration.

Snow postpones city council meeting

By Gregory A. Scibelli
gscibelli@turley.com

AGAWAM – The Agawam City Council meeting scheduled for Monday, Feb. 1 was canceled due to the nor'easter that brought between eight and 12 inches of snow to the region. The meeting was to feature a public hearing for an ordinance change to add a charge for electric vehicle charging at the town-sponsored charging stations. That public hearing along with the rest of the council agenda has been moved to Feb. 8, according to the council's office. The following meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 16.

Hotline set up for Phase 2 vaccines

By Gregory A. Scibelli
gscibelli@turley.com

AGAWAM – Mayor William Sapelli has established a direct line to assist residents who are now eligible to receive the COVID-19 vaccine, whether it be the Moderna or Pfizer vaccine.

Late last week, Sapelli made a robo call to all Agawam residents announcing Phase 2 of the vaccine rollout plan in Massachusetts.

As part of Phase 2, residents 75 years of age and older are now allowed to make appointments to receive the vaccine.

According to Sapelli, "Agawam will be receiving a limited number of vaccines on a regular basis during Phase 2."

He said the vaccines being provided to the town's health department would be reserved for that segment of the population.

Because of the issues many elder citizens have experienced in making appointments, Sapelli has set up a registration hotline for Agawam's residents. The number is (413) 726-2840. Residents 75 and older can now call the hotline and leave a message and receive a callback in order to set up an appointment for vaccination.

Fresh food being distributed to families in need

WEST SPRINGFIELD – The Massachusetts Military Support Foundation (MMSF), which distributed Patriot Farm Food Boxes at Eastern States Exposition's Better Living Center, has handed out its 1 millionth pound of fresh food. This will mark their 1 millionth pound of fresh food distributed in Western Massachusetts since October 2020, when the MMSF stepped up after the USDA Farmers to Families Food Box program's funding was cut. The USDA's program has recently been approved for further funding and the MMSF was selected as a distribution partner for the USDA's Farmers to Families program.

Farmers to Families Food Boxes provide well-balanced, prepackaged perishable food to combat the massive food insecurity problem posed by the COVID-19 pandemic. The foods come from farms and producers severely affected by restaurant, school and other closures that interrupted their supply chain. Instead, through federal grants and the efforts of volunteer groups such as the MMSF, the nutritious food is directed to those in need on a local and national scale. Each food package contains 32 pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products and meat products. The distribution process follows all COVID-19 health guidelines. Participants have limited interaction as they pick up their food boxes, which are easy to access.

Veterans and the general public are eligible to receive food boxes and preregistration is required through www.mmsf.org. Boxes will be distributed each Saturday 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. until Feb. 27.

Anyone who has preregistered to receive a Farmers to Families Food Box will enter Gate 9 from Memorial Avenue, proceed to Gate 8 and follow directions from event staff to the Better Living Center for check in. The distribution of Farmers to Families food boxes is a drive-thru event; recipients will remain in their vehicles at all times. Note: Pick up location for Feb. 6 boxes will be the Mallory Building.

tories were featured. We've done a number of high-profile parades in the past, but this is the highest honor that we've been involved in. We knew we were up to the task and put as much energy into this as possible," said Brian Willette, a U.S. Army veteran from South Hadley, who carried a rifle during the procession.

Willette partook in the venture alongside his daughter Christine Lupacchino, a U.S. Air Force and Chicopee resident, who serves as Commander of the Honor Guard.

Eric Segundo, a U.S. Army veteran from Springfield, Rene Fuertes, a U.S. Navy veteran from Randolph and Keith Buckhout, a U.S. Marine and Air Force veteran from Easthampton rounded out the five-person unit.

On Jan. 20, the Honor Guard paid tribute to "The Greatest Generation," veterans who served in WWII, and "The Newest Greatest Generation," members of today's all-volunteer U.S. Armed Forces.

During its presentation, members of the Honor Guard wore WWII Airborne uniforms, revealing the distinctive shoulder insignia of the 82nd Airborne Division, the country's first division compromised entirely of all-volunteer Paratroopers.

While the Honor Guard filmed and submitted its routine more than a month ago, it did not receive word of its selection until two days prior to the inauguration. Fortunately, the group had mentally prepared itself for the spotlight.

The Honor Guard was featured on national television twice last Wednesday, once during the virtual parade and again in the evening on "Celebrating America," a special inauguration program that was hosted by actor Tom Hanks.

Willette, Commander of the MA Military Order of the Purple Heart, noted that, "This event really encapsulated everything that we stand for."

their skills at a wide range of events each year.

"Whether it's posting the colors at a little league championship game here in western Mass or at a Red Sox game, the same professionalism and dedication goes into each Honor Guard presentation," said Willette.

Willette was especially proud of his daughter, Lupacchino, who offered a congratulatory message to President Biden. Participating in the Honor Guard is a family tradition that dates back many decades.

"My dad and her grandfather was a member of the old United States Honor Guard in Washington D.C. in the 1950s," said Willette. "I often think it skipped me and went to her; the expertise. She really knows her stuff as our Commander. I couldn't be prouder."

For Willette, the recent attack on the U.S. Capital brought added significance to an honor that he already considered to be special in its own right. He explained how the events that unfolded in Washington D.C. several weeks ago impacted his approach.

"The events of Jan. 6 added special weight to this day. The attack on the Capital, I feel, was a direct attack on our Constitution," said Willette. "It increased the magnitude and gave us that extra pride. Being all veterans, we've sworn to uphold the Constitution of the United States against all enemies foreign and domestic, and I feel that we played a role in upholding that Constitution on Jan. 20, participating in the inauguration."

More beds needed in Soldiers Home proposal

By Shelby Macri
smacri@turley.com

HOLYOKE – The Holyoke Soldiers Home has been in the spotlight this past year with the deaths of 78 veterans due to COVID-19 within the facility.

During this time, the Holyoke Soldiers Home Coalition formed, with members consisting of veterans, family of veterans, and past Soldier's Home staff.

Including Jon Paradis, the former Deputy Superintendent of the Solders' Home from 2013-15 and Paul Barabani, the Former Superintendent of the Soldiers' Home from 2011-16. The Coalition serves as a collective voice of the community in regards to the dealings of the vets within the Soldiers Home. Both Barabani and Paradis spoke during a press conference presentation on Tuesday Jan. 26, where the coalition spoke about the plans for the new Soldier's Home building.

Barabani spoke about his time working in the Soldiers' Home, and the need to replace 270 beds in fiscal year 2013. During this time there was a plan to make 120 private rooms, rooms that are bigger and bathrooms within; and to renovate 150 beds as semi-private rooms with two people in it. At the time there were three to four beds in one room the veterans had to share with others. Many residents kept their wheelchairs and walkers outside of their rooms because there wasn't space within the room to store them.

In 2013 the plan was to separate people from each other, and if vets had to share a room it would only be with one other person. During this time the Department of Veterans Affairs approved to match funds for the project. The VA agreed to give 65% of the total funds and the state agreed to match the funds by 35%, but the State failed to verify the matching funds by the August first deadline and the project didn't happen.

Because beds weren't added and the project didn't happen there were many family members calling from the waiting list, expressing that it's getting harder to take care of their veteran at home.

“While I was the deputy at the soldiers home we had about 300 veterans on the waiting list for a room, that’s why we were looking to expand in 2013,” Paradis said. “After that project didn’t happen I was always on the phone speaking with family members that are concerned for their veteran’s safety and that they need help. That’s when we decided to try to make an adult day health care, so vets would be taken care of here and then go home at the end of the day to make things easier on their family.”

However, that project in 2014 did not come to fruition either because the state failed to verify matching funds again.

The Coalition is gathered currently to make sure the needs of the vets and their families are heard during this round of creating more rooms at the Soldiers Home. A study was done by the State to estimate how many beds to put into the new facility, this study was done on the numbers from this past year. During 2020, 40% of vets on the wait list died while waiting, others were taken off the list for different reasons and six asked to be taken off the list because 78 veterans had died in the Soldiers Home already.

These varying numbers from this past year caused the state to offer 150 beds in the new building, estimating a decline of the veteran population by 57 people.

The Coalition feels that not only will the number of veterans on the waitlist rise, but that the number of active duty servicemen is rising especially with the use of those in the National Guard. Those people will be eligible for Veterans benefits later in life, and this new building will need to last and maintain the health of vets for many years to come. The members of the Coalition feel that 280 beds will be sufficient, as it accounts for a rise in wait listed vets, eligible vets, and those with disabilities.

"I'd rather have us make the room and beds now, to accommodate for future generations," Paradis said. "I'm most likely going to spend my final days with my fellow vets in the Soldiers Home, so I'd like to see it stay kept up."

The Coalition is using their collective voices to speak during board of trustee meetings and to speak to those in legislature to try and the most amount of beds and help for the Soldiers Home. The Coalition doesn't have a say in the building of the new Soldiers Home but they are raising their voices so the community is heard. They want the board of trustees and those in legislature to ask hard questions concerning this project. Questions asking if the waitlist analysis is statistically accurate, if the historic demand at the Soldiers Home was properly considered, if the considered future conflicts, and if National Guard and Reserve members are part of the VA projec-

These are all things that can change the bed count, and the Coalition feels that these aspects weren't considered when the idea of 150 beds was proposed for the new building. The Coalition attends each board of trustee meeting and encourages other residents to attend and speak during public comment, to make sure the needs of veterans in the community is voiced. The Coalition held two other meeting regarding the new building and two members of the board of trustees attended both meetings. Four out of seven trustees have attended the Coalitions meetings and have heard what they have had to say, Paradis is hoping that the board of trustees will push for more beds knowing that veterans are in need of it. While the Coalition is excited that the new building will remain in Holyoke, they are hoping for more accommodation for veterans trying to get into the care facility.

Participate in virtual photograph show

AGAWAM – Please join us online to participate in our first virtual photography show. Since we couldn't do our usual exhibit at the library, we moved it online so we can continue to share outstanding photography with our community, and to support our beloved library. Officially, this is our First Open Virtual Photography Show. Categories include creative, nature, pictorial, and photojournalism, and the photography never disappoints.

Awards totaling $1,340 have been de-terminated by our esteemed judges Amy S. Dane and Barbara Krawczyk, both highly respected photographers. Their comments are available online, along with the photographs, so the Show can continue to be an educational experience for participants.

schools, or the police or fire service. The more attractive the services are in a community, the higher the values go up.”

Sapelli also clarified why bills go up sometimes during a given tax year.

Reed explained the tax rate is set in December, so preliminary payments made in August and November are estimated, typically based off last year's mill rate and property values. Once the tax rate has been set, an individual's actual taxes owed for the fiscal year are reconciled in the final two quarters of the year.

"It can get kind of confusing for taxpayers," said Reed.

“Although there will be many people working the phones Monday through Friday, it may be necessary for you to leave your name and number and receive a call-back,” Sapelli said.

Calls are first-come, first-serve, and will be returned in the order received.

Online registration is available, but the hotline is now available for those residents that would prefer that method.

According to the state vaccination plan, Phase 2, which should be taking place between now and the end of March, includes residents 75 and older, then residents 65 and older as well as residents with two or more medical conditions that put that person at risk. Essential workers including educators, transit, grocery, utility, food and agriculture, restaurant, and café workers. Those who work other front line jobs are also available in Phase 2, including meat-packers, convenience store workers, and those who work in the court system. The order of priority is listed on the state's website and other places, such as CVS, Walgreens, and some grocery store pharmacies could begin carrying the vaccine before long.

The Town of Agawam will continue to update the public as it navigates through Phase 2. Phase 3 vaccinations are supposed to begin in April.

OUR VIEW

The cost of doing business

By Gregory A. Scibelli

Monday night's Agawam City Council meeting was postponed, and I was really looking forward to the debate regarding the electric vehicle charging station fee.

The issue has drawn some public reaction, including two letters to the editor decrying the possibility of a $1 per kilowatt hour.

After doing some research on the situation, I understand the charge and how the town's mayor and his team arrived at the charging fee.

One thing I disagree with in both of last week's letters to the editor is that it will detract from people who want to use electric cars.

There are a few things about electric cars that need to be unpacked here. First, electric vehicles are still a relatively newer technology. It's a developing technology and like anything else, the costs are very high. If there is anything keeping people from switching to an electric vehicle right at this moment, it is the cost to purchase one.

But like any new technology, it will be refined over the next 30 years as our country tries to pursue Net-Zero emissions. Electric vehicles will gain more power, they will become more reliable, batteries will carry longer charges, and take less time to charge. Take an iPhone 12, for example. An iPhone 12 can charge in no time and the battery life is outstanding compared to its predecessors.

And like many new technologies, the costs will eventually come down as more manufacturers get into the electric vehicle market, and the fad will catch on.

But what about charging the public $1 per kilowatt hour at a public charging station. Well, that's the cost of doing business. First, based on some research, the Town of Agawam pays about 60 cents per kilowatt hour. That's much higher, but that is the rate for a municipality. The remaining 40 cents is for the network subscription and the costs of maintaining the charging stations.

The goal is to make this a self-sustaining program, and it should be. Taxpayers should not have to be responsible for paying other people's "gas" bills on a regular basis.

The average person who owns an electric vehicle charges it at their home, anyways, whether it be at the end of a day or when the battery has died. Paying $1 per kilowatt hour while at the park is the price of convenience to be able to give that car a charge while you're walking the dog or throwing a frisbee around. It's like the reason you could pay more than $5.00 for a two-pack of AA batteries at a Cumberland Farms rather than a bulk rate for a package of 40 at Costco. It's the price of convenience.

Electric vehicles are a great thing, and their use will grow over the years. But right here, right now, taxpayers should not be responsible to cover the electric bill of e-vehicle users. And like it or not, you have to pay for convenience, hence the proposed cost by the mayor's office. Otherwise, wait till you get home to re-charge your vehicle.

Thanks to those who donated toys

Dear Editor:

The Agawam Zero Waste Club would like to thank all those who contributed to our successful 5th Annual Holiday Used Toy Exchange in November and December of 2020. The exchange was conducted differently this time to comply with COVID-19 health guidelines. Community members sent in pictures of gently used toys they wanted to donate, and participants selected toys, free of charge, from the photos via an online platform. Toys were later dropped off by appointment, organized outdoors by volunteers, and quarantined in a borrowed trailer. Two weeks later, the toys were picked up by appointment drive-thru style at the Agawam Public Library parking lot through the rain and snow, making this a memorable event!

Thank you to all community members who donated toys; the Agawam Rotary Club, especially Linda Vitro, for organizing & hosting the online format; the Agawam High School SAVE Club and National Honor Society for getting the word out and helping to organize toys; the Agawam Health Department, Kathy Auer, for providing health guidelines; the Agawam Public Library for helping to coordinate the event; and finally, the Agawam Advertiser News for their press release about this event. We are grateful.

Our best to you,

How to grow nutritious sweet potatoes

The sweet potato is a nutritional powerhouse. According to www.nutritiondata.com, it is "low in sodium, and very low in saturated fat and cholesterol. It is also a good source of dietary fiber, vitamin B6 and potassium, and a very good source of vitamin A, vitamin C and manganese." If these facts aren't reason enough to try adding this veggie to our garden this growing season, delight in the fact that it is also a very pretty vine.

If my memory is correct, my Mom attempted to grow sweet potatoes one summer when I was child. It wasn't all that impressive as I recall, at least not as impressive as her peanut growing experiment! Anyhow, the one thing we have against us is that sweet potatoes require a long growing season, somewhere between 90-150 days. The tender shoots are cold sensitive, and must be planted into the ground after all danger of frost has passed. In our area we use Memorial Day as our "frost-free date." Then, the edible root, aka the sweet potato, must be harvested before the first frost of fall. By my records, the first frost usually occurs in early October. This equates to 100 days bare minimum of growing time. Still interested, read on.

You can purchase plants through the mail or try sprouting your own from sweet potatoes purchased from the grocery store. Dick Raymond, author of my favorite gardening book of all time, "Garden Way's Joy of Gardening" (Storey Publishing $24.95), has some great tips for doing this: Seven or eight weeks prior to Memorial Day, simply cut the spuds in half length-wise and lay them down in moist peat moss in a shallow tray. Cover with plastic wrap and place in a sunny window until sprouting occurs. Slips should be separated and planted about six inches deep, 12 to 15 inches apart from one another. He advises to water well for the first two weeks; after that sweet potato plants are reportedly somewhat drought tolerant. When fertilizing, choose a formulation that is a bit lower in nitrogen, otherwise you will have lots of vines at the expense of sweet potatoes.

Dig up your bounty on a dry day, being extra careful not to damage the skin. Don't leave them exposed to the sun for more than an hour and don't wash them either. Picky, aren't they? Fresh sweet potatoes aren't all that sweet, a curing period of two weeks in the dark at 70 to 80 degrees and at high humidity will bring out the great flavor we are accustomed to. Long-term storage should be at temperatures around 60 degrees.

To make sweet potato fries simply cut the root into thick wedges, then toss them with seasoned olive oil (or a favorite salad dressing). Bake on a cookie sheet at 350 degrees for one hour, flipping occasionally. Some ketchup as a dip may help reluctant kids to give the "funny orange French fries" a try.

It's my hope that you all enjoy growing sweet potatoes from "scratch," so to speak!

Agawam High School Counseling Bulletin

Reminders:

Members of the Class of 2021 should familiarize themselves with the information that has been posted to the Post-Secondary Planning section under the Counseling tab of the High School webpage. Most recently, the Senior College Application Packet was added, which is a great resource for students interested in applying to two- and four-year colleges.

core-docs.s3.amazonaws.com/documents/asset/uploaded_file/937652/Senior_Application_Packet_2020-2021.pdf

The COVID-19 pandemic has created uncertainty among students and families about nearly all aspects of the college admission process, including the role of standardized testing. We were scheduled to host testing in November, but did not feel it was prudent to have students from “red” area and states in our building. We looked into hosting school day testing for just Agawam students, but the next available date is in March. Due to the cancellation of SAT and ACT testing dates, more than 1,630 US colleges and universities announced they are moving to a test-optional policy, and more will surely follow. By going test-optional, institutions are making a definitive statement that they will not need test scores to make admission decisions this year. Despite the change in policies, high school students and their parents are asking, “Does test optional really mean test optional?” The answer, simply put, is: YES.

Please keep in mind that some colleges may require SAT or ACT scores for certain majors and/or the awarding of merit money. We encourage you to contact any schools that are of interest to you (website, email, or phone) to confirm that test scores are not required for your intended major and/or the awarding of merit money.

All students should be checking their Naviance accounts on a regular basis. There is so much valuable information for all students, whether you’re headed directly into the work force, the military, or college upon graduation from AHS. If you can’t access your account, please be in touch with your School Counselor.

Open Houses/Informational Sessions/Discovery Days:

The last session will occur on Wednesday, Jan. 27 at 4 p.m.

The National Association of College Admission Counseling will be hosting its first Virtual College Fair on Sunday, Jan. 31 from 1 to 7 p.m. Additionally, there are smaller Focus Fairs designed especially for students with special interests or residing in specific regions: STEM (Mar. 7), Performing & Visual Arts (Mar. 16), Western US (Apr. 10), and Southeastern US (Apr. 20). MASSHIRE will be hosting a series of webinars surrounding Exploring Professions in Healthcare. The sessions will be held Jan. 27 (12 noon to 1:30 p.m.), Feb. 10 (12 noon to 1:30 p.m.) and Feb. 24 (12 noon to 1:30 p.m.). Please contact Phylis Gedeon at pgedeon@masshirespringfield.org or 413-858-2818.

Whether you’ve already started your college search or have no idea where to begin, BigFuture Days will give you a chance to get information about multiple colleges from college admissions officers and current college students. The program for the Northeast will be held on Sunday, Mar. 7. Please visit cb.org/bigfuturedays to register and learn more!

Colleges and universities will be hosting information and recruitment events, in a variety of formats, in the next couple of months. Check the colleges’ websites for more information and to confirm the date and time of the event. While campus visits may look and feel different during this time, it is important to take advantage of these programs to learn as much as you can about the schools that are of interest to you.

NHS labels storm drains with DPW

AGAWAM – Volunteers from the Agawam High School National Honor Society recently partnered with the Agawam Department of Public Works to mark 351 storm drains throughout the community. Storm drain marking involves the labeling of storm drain inlets with a tile as a reminder to businesses and residents; “No Dumping, Drains to Stream”.

According to the EPA, more pollution comes from the combined effects of common daily actions such as lawn care, vehicle maintenance, and pet waste management. Storm water pollution begins at the home and business, with the drains on our streets. Rainwater washes down streets and parking lots, driveways and sidewalks, roofs and yards, carrying water and everything it picks up into the storm drains. Storm water is not cleaned or treated before it empties into our waterways from the storm drain inlets. As a result, lawn care chemicals, grass clippings, litter, pet waste, automotive products and anything else picked up along the way are dumped into our waterways.

According to the Department of Public Works, the town maintains more than 3,600 catch basins. Since the implementation of storm drain marking, volunteers have marked more than 2,000 catch basins throughout the community. “We are very thankful for the time and work these volunteers have invested to help the DPW and our community” Stated Mayor William Sapelli. “It is very easy to overlook all the pollutants we may or may not intentionally cause to flow into our water ways. Little changes in our behavior, such as picking up pet waste, makes a big difference in the quality of our waterways”.

Brownies fall late

AGAWAM – In their second contest of the season, Agawam High School boys basketball was defeated by visiting Westfield 45-42. Agawam trailed throughout most of the game, but came back to take a 41-40 lead with 2:30 remaining in the game. But Westfield would grab five of the next six points for the win.

Opening weekend events announced

WATERBURY, Conn. — American-Canadian Tour (ACT) and Pro All Stars Series (PASS) officials have announced the slate of racing for the 46th Thompson Icebreaker on Saturday, April 10 and Sunday April 11. The 82nd season opener at Connecticut's Thompson Speedway Motorsports Park currently consists of a nine-division card highlighted by the $10,000-to-win Icebreaker 125 for the Thompson Outlaw Open Modified Series.

The event marks the return of the historic season kick-off after a one-year hiatus due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Icebreaker was first held in 1974 and has become a staple of the Northeast motorsports calendar. It includes two days of racing with an optional Test N' Tune on Friday, April 9.

card. This includes the Sunoco Modifieds, ACT-type Late Models, Limited Sportsmen/8-cylinder Street Stocks, SK Light Modifieds, and Mini Stocks. Laps for each division are to be determined. The purses for these divisions will be similar to those at the Thompson

Speedway events ACT and PASS promoted in 2020.

The PASS Super Late Models headline the Saturday portion of Icebreaker Weekend with a 75-lap event. It is the fifth straight Icebreaker featuring PASS, joining

'FALL IN SPRING'

MASCAC cancels 'fall in spring' competition

WESTFIELD – The Massachusetts State Collegiate Athletic Conference (MASCAC) announced today that the eight MASCAC Presidents made the difficult decision to cancel the fall in spring semester athletic conference competition, including all indoor and outdoor athletic conference competition. The decision ends the possibility of resuming the fall conference competition during the spring of 2021 but will allow fall and winter student-athletes training opportunities. While there will not be a conference schedule for MASCAC fall sports, member institutions will be allowed to schedule fall sport non-conference games at their discretion.

"The MASCAC office has been meeting regularly with the presidents, athletic directors, athletic trainers and other essential staff to consider ways we can bring our student-athletes back to the playing field safely while adhering to all state, federal and NCAA guidelines," said MASCAC Commissioner Angela Baumann. "Regrettably, the highly contagious nature of the COVID-19 virus and the risk of community spread through conference competition proved too great a risk to our student-athletes to engage in conference play. With the health and well-being of our student-athletes and our staff as our priority, the difficult decision was made to cancel the fall in spring MASCAC competition," Baumann said.

Although fall MASCAC competition has been canceled, the state universities will continue the 2016-2019 editions. PASS holds their first event of the year in the Northeast after opening the season with a pair of events at North Carolina's Hickory Motor Speedway.

The NEMA Lites of the Northeastern Midget Association, who are longtime Thompson Speedway supporters, return for another showing at the Icebreaker. The EXIT Realty Pro Truck Challenge rounds out the card. Both series were slated to be part of the 2020 Icebreaker before its cancellation.

Officials are finalizing the full schedule for each day. More information regarding schedules, pricing, and ticketing will be announced over the coming weeks.

"We have something for everyone at the Icebreaker," PASS president Tom Mayberry said. "It's important to start the season with a bang, and we've put together a line-up to do just that. We know a lot of people are looking forward to the Outlaw Open Modified Series debut, but there's plenty of other action planned for fans of both open-wheel and full-fender racing."

Entries are already pouring in for the 125-lap Outlaw Open main event. Two of the biggest names on the list are Franklin, MA's Bobby Santos III and Milford, CT's Doug Coby. Santos has posted four career Tour-type Modified victories at Thompson Speedway and six at New Hampshire Motor Speedway. He recently triumphed in the famed Little 500 for Sprint Cars at Indiana's Anderson Speedway.

to provide student-athletes with on-campus, in-person practices, conditioning, and training opportunities during the spring semester in order to support their physical and mental well-being. These practice and training opportunities will not use a year of NCAA Eligibility and will be done in compliance with campus, state and federal COVID guidance and protocols.

"The MASCAC Presidents know the value of intercollegiate athletics to our campus community and how important sports are to our student-athletes. The news that we need to cancel the fall conference competition is understandably disappointing, but the health and safety of our students and staff is of the utmost importance," said Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts President James Birge, Chair of the MASCAC Council of Presidents. "These are unprecedented times and making the difficult decision to cancel fall conference competition is equally unprecedented. We will continue to monitor the facts and re-evaluate the status of athletics as information and data evolves," said President Birge.

The MASCAC Presidents are hopeful that a spring sports season will occur and plan to announce their decision in February.

"We are disappointed conference competition couldn't be provided for our fall student-athletes in the spring," said

Coby is a six-time champion of the NASCAR Whelen Modified Tour with six victories at Thompson.

Other notable Modified standouts on the early entry list include former Modified Racing Series and, International Supermodified Association Champion Jon McKennedy, former NASCAR Advance Auto Parts Weekly Series National Champion Keith Rocco, 2011 NASCAR Whelen Modified Tour Champion Ronnie Silk, and Mike Christopher Jr., the winner of the Budweiser Modified Open at last October's World Series of Speedway Racing. They'll be joined by Northeast household names such as Matt Swanson, Eric Goodale, Andy Shaw, Carl Medeiros Jr., and Dan Meservey.

A limited amount of garage stalls are still available for Icebreaker weekend. These will be awarded to Outlaw Open Modified Series competitors in the order their entries are received.

The Icebreaker 125 is the opener of the new Outlaw Open Modified Series. The six-pack of big-money events concludes with the $20,000-to-win Thompson 300 on October 9 and 10 as part of the 59th World Series of Speedway Racing. In between are four 75-lap events on Wednesday nights throughout the summer that will pay a minimum of $5,000-to-win. Rules, entry forms, and other information for the Outlaw Open Modified Series is available at www.acttour.com/outlaw-open-modifieds or www.racedayct.com/thompson2021.

MASCAC Commissioner Angela Baumann. "We are still creating plans to play the spring sports season and are hopeful we will be able to provide those student-athletes an athletic experience."

Throughout the 2020-21 academic year, the MASCAC will be celebrating its 50th anniversary with special features, facts and trivia commemorating the event. Our conference has a rich history of success on the playing field and in the classroom. Over the academic year, the conference will be highlighting the student-athletes, teams, coaches, and administrators from the last 50 years.

St. Patrick's Road Race going virtual for 2021

HOLYOKE – If you haven't heard by now, for the second year in a row, the Holyoke St. Patrick's Day Road Race has been cancelled due to concerns surrounding COVID-19.

We certainly didn't come to this decision lightly but in the interest of our participants, volunteers, and our community we have cancelled this year's in person race. We've been looking forward to the race since the cancellation last year, never thinking this pandemic would last this long.

We understand that this isn't a replacement for the real thing but running with 7,000 others right now is not possible, but we will try to make it just as fun! This March we will hold the second Virtual Holyoke St Patrick's Day Road Race. Create your own 10K route (or use ours!) and compete against other runners. We will provide a familiar looking t-shirt, printable custom bib number, free beer, and local giveaways.

Go to <http://racewire.com/register.php?id=11824> for all the details to register.

Lastly, thank you for your patience and support over the last year. The St. Patrick's Committee of Holyoke works tirelessly year-round to make this "Homecoming Weekend" the best one of the year. We look forward to the opportunity to host you on the streets of Holyoke for the 45th running of the Holyoke St. Patrick's Road Race in March 2022.

You can create your own course for this year's virtual Holyoke St. Patrick's Road Race.

STCC partners with Head Start to create online preschool

SPRINGFIELD – Springfield Technical Community College student Hannah Lavigne is leading a small class of preschoolers in story time and an activity. She had to plan the lesson and carry it out. She selected the book "Where Do Balloons Go?" by Jamie Lee Curtis, a story about a lost balloon and its many adventures, and came up with a related activity.

As teachers do, she held the book up to make sure the little ones could see the colorful pictures.

But the students in this Head Start class were no wiggle worms clustered around this student teacher's feet. They were each in their own home, watching their teacher and classmates on a computer screen.

And from her own West Springfield home, Lavigne conducted the activity she planned, showing them two balloons, one buoyant with helium, the other gravity-bound. When Lavigne let go of the helium balloon, students squealed when it disappeared from the camera's eye and their view, drifting upward to her bedroom ceiling. Maybe, like the balloons in the book, this balloon was having a dance party in the sky. They watched as the air-filled balloon dropped to the ground.

Welcome to Head Start at Home.

Last fall, Lavigne, like all STCC early childhood practicum students, completed her practicum teaching online.

In March, when the pandemic shut down schools, closed daycare centers and sent legions of college students into intensive online learning, professors in STCC's early childhood education program didn't panic; they adapted.

About 55 students are enrolled in STCC's one-year certificate program or two-year associate degree program in early childhood education, including both Spanish-speaking and English-speaking cohorts.

Students are required to spend 150 hours teaching in the field under the guidance of mentor teachers. Prior to pandemic shut-downs, they logged those hours in a variety of settings: family child care operations, private childcare programs, public school preschool programs and federally funded Head Start centers.

When many centers closed down, STCC students were left without their practicum settings to return to. Luckily, many had already logged time in the field. And then the state reduced the teaching requirements to 75 hours.

"We sort of had to just muddle through and scrape ourselves over the finish line," said STCC Assistant Professor Aimee Dalenta, who works in the Early Childhood Education program. "But then in the summer we were in a real pickle."

To meet that need, Dalenta created a six-week long fully virtual pre-school for children ages 3-5 where STCC students took turns planning lessons, teaching them, and serving as assistant teachers.

The virtual preschool was a hit for both the students who gained practicum experience and the participating families whose children had enrichment experiences.

STCC students not only learned about good teaching, they gained first-hand experience in something all teachers understand: the need to adapt to whatever circumstances they face.

"We spent a lot of time talking about the flexibility it requires to teach online," Dalenta said. "We talked about how marketable it makes them in an uncertain future. Working with preschoolers online is not an easy thing to do."

For the fall semester, though, Dalenta knew the STCC virtual preschool could not be replicated. While it was a rich and successful summer experience, it was not a sustainable model. It also lacked something important to all teachers in training: the opportunity to work with experienced teachers, who provide grounding for student teachers and model teaching strategies. They needed men-

Dalenta reached out to the Holyoke Chicopee Springfield Head Start program, long a placement for STCC practicum students.

Mahera Chiarizo, HCS Head Start's director of education, was eager to team up with Dalenta to create a good learning experience for STCC students in pandemic conditions.

"This was a first for all of us, doing something remotely," said Chiarizo. "With the right ideas and motivation, it became a very successful partnership."

Chiarizo said the ongoing connection between STCC and Head Start has been a fruitful two-way street for many years.

"This is a pipeline for employment," she said. "We really look at these partnerships as an opportunity to grow the field."

Relying on the technology platform ClassDojo, which is used by Springfield public schools, STCC students were able to join their mentor teachers for virtual parent meetings, lesson planning, teaching, even taking advantage of professional development opportunities presented to Springfield teachers.

Though classes were taught remotely, the practicum sought to replicate typical student teaching experience in other ways: For example, starting off with a small assignment and gradually building up to increasing amounts of responsibility around both planning and teaching. And just as they do with in-person practicum placements, students are encouraged by their mentor teachers to reflect on what worked well with a given lesson, what they might have done differently and what they learned from the experience.

"It's the same approach as if they were in the classroom, but it's virtual," Chiarizo said.

While teaching preschoolers via computer is not easy, Dalenta believes the principles student teachers need to ground themselves in are enduring, whether in person, on ClassDojo or any other technology platform.

"The fundamentals of good teaching pedagogy," Dalenta said, "will always be the same until the end of time."

Hampden Charter School earns award

WEST SPRINGFIELD – Hampden Charter School of Science West has earned the College Board AP® Computer Science Female Diversity Award for achieving high female representation in AP Computer Science Principles. Schools honored with the AP Computer Science Female Diversity Award have expanded girls' access in AP Computer Science courses.

Out of the 20,000 institutions that offer AP courses, 1,119 achieved either 50% or higher female representation in one of the two AP computer science courses or a percentage of the female computer science examinees meeting or exceeding that of the school's female population during the 2019-2020 school year. That's nearly 37% more than the 818 schools recognized last year. In 2020, Hampden Charter School of Science

West was one of 831 recognized in the category of AP Computer Science Principles.

According to the data, female students who take AP CSP in high school are more than 5 times as likely to major in computer science in college, compared to similar female students who did not take CSP. The study also finds AP CSP students are nearly twice as likely to enroll in AP CSA, and that for most students, AP CSP serves as a stepping-stone to other advanced AP STEM coursework.

Hampden Charter School of Science West is a tuition free public charter school serving students from Westfield, West Springfield, Agawam and Holyoke. For more information about upcoming events, please visit: <https://west.hampdencharter.org/>
